THOMPSON COBURN LLP

Nick Lamb's practice at the firm includes substantial experience as a trial lawyer in all types of civil litigation, including the defense of railroad, product liability and other personal injury claims, and the management of complex tort and commercial litigation.

As one of the firm's most experienced and successful trial lawyers, Nick has served as lead counsel for major corporations in high exposure cases in Missouri and Illinois state and federal courts, and other federal courts throughout the country, including dangerous venues such as the City of St. Louis and Madison and St. Clair Counties, Illinois. He has enjoyed jury verdicts, summary judgments, favorable settlements and appellate victories in numerous cases involving FELA, maritime, health care, product liability, employment, class action and business litigation. He has lectured at national trial lawyer seminars on federal preemption, juror evaluation and mitigation of damages. Nick has combined a successful trial practice with a wide range of civic and charitable endeavors in the St. Louis community.
