

Clyde L. Smith

THOMPSON COBURN LLP

Clyde Smith is a licensed Patent Attorney in the Firm's Intellectual Property practice.

Distinction

Mr. Smith's practice is focused on the preparation and prosecution of patent applications in mechanical and electromechanical arts, prosecuting applications for trademark registration, providing counseling and opinions related to patent infringement issues, providing claim interpretation analysis of patents, providing counseling and opinions related to the patentability of inventions, and assisting in litigation of various intellectual property matters.

Professional Affiliations

- Bar Association of Metropolitan St. Louis
- American Intellectual Property Law Association
- American Bar Association

Education

- Saint Louis University School of Law
J.D. (1999)
Associate Editor of the St. Louis University Public Law Review
- Saint Louis University, Parks College
B.S., Aerospace Engineering, magna cum laude (1992)

Employment

- Thompson Coburn LLP
Associate (2001-Present)
- Howell & Haferkamp, L.C.
Associate
- Whiteside Biomechanics
Chief Engineer
- McDonnell Douglas Corporation
Strength Engineer

Licensure

- Missouri (1999)
- U.S. Patent and Trademark Office

Publications

- Co-Author, "Clinical, Histological, and Biomechanical Analysis of Bone Remodeling in the Proximal Femur"

Primary Practice Areas

- Intellectual Property