Libby assists clients with a wide variety of business litigation matters.

She performs legal research, drafts and reviews pleadings and other documents, supports case management, and assists with client communications. Libby has assisted clients with navigating a wide variety of antitrust matters, including Sherman Act Section 1 and Section 2 issues involving conspiracy, refusal to deal, exclusive dealing, monopolization, and attempted monopolization claims. Additionally, Libby has experience with counseling clients on cybersecurity and privacy issues, including the California Consumer Privacy Act (CCPA) and the Illinois Biometric Information Privacy Act.

Libby earned her J.D. from Wake Forest University, where she served as Editor-in-Chief for the Journal of Business and Intellectual Property Law and competed in several trial team arenas. In law school, she also served on the board for the law school's Moot Court and was named to the Order of the Barristers upon graduation. Libby focused much of her studies on cybersecurity and privacy and holds CIPP/US, CIPP/E (Europe) and CIPP/A (Asia) Certifications.
