Matt is an associate in Thompson Coburn's Business Litigation practice where he focuses on complex commercial and financial services disputes in state and federal courts.

Prior to joining the Firm, Matt was an assistant district attorney at the Bronx County District Attorney's Office where he investigated and prosecuted over 200 criminal cases. His responsibilities included drafting complaints, indictments, and motions, applying for search warrants, analyzing evidence, interviewing witnesses and preparing them to testify, conducting pre-trial suppression hearings, and presenting felony cases to grand juries. Matt also appeared in court regularly for arraignments and pre-trial conferences.

While in law school, Matt was an articles editor on the Hofstra Law Review and interned for the Honorable Gary R. Brown at the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of New York. Matt also worked as a law fellow for the Manhattan District Attorney's Office and as a law clerk at a firm in Queens where he handled real estate matters, bankruptcies, foreclosures, as well as matrimonial and landlord/tenant disputes.
