The Thompson Coburn Los Angeles office serves a diverse local, national, and international client base in a range of complex matters.

Our clients include corporations, LLCs, partnerships, joint ventures, entrepreneurs, and high-net-worth individuals and families. They represent industries such as transportation, manufacturing, banking, real estate, health care, utilities, telecommunications, insurance, and professional and financial services.

Our Los Angeles attorneys practice in areas including corporate law, litigation in federal and state courts, banking and commercial lending, labor and employment, intellectual property, succession planning, real estate, and tax. Collaborating closely with colleagues across other Thompson Coburn offices, we ensure that our clients have access to the comprehensive resources needed to address a wide range of legal challenges.

Conveniently located in the heart of Century City, our Los Angeles office is well-positioned to serve the diverse legal needs of our clients.
