

I like to meld my work in private practice with my background as a government litigator to tailor defense strategies that support clients during stressful times.

overview

Dan Cox is a litigator defending business, tort, product liability, intellectual property, and class action defense cases.

While Dan's trial work is primarily concentrated in Missouri and Illinois state and federal courts, his clients hail from around the United States. Dan is known for crafting creative legal solutions to complex subjects, earning the trust of Fortune 200 companies as well as the multi-national, mid-size, and smaller companies who choose him to serve as their national and regional counsel.

Dan's legal career began with a prestigious role as a trial attorney for the United States Department of Justice in Washington, D.C. As an Honor's Graduate under the Attorney General's Honors Program, Dan spent four years defending the U.S. in environmental and toxic tort suits brought in federal courts throughout the country.

With extensive experience, a personal style, and a deep commitment to achieving success, Dan's work in the private sector pairs perfectly with his deep understanding of government litigation to result in comprehensive and tailored legal strategies.
