

I focus on public law and finance, working to create residential, commercial, and recreational spaces that enrich and strengthen communities.

overview

Mack is an associate in the Public Finance and Public Law practice group.

He advises clients on a wide array of public law, finance, and development matters, playing a key role in supporting essential infrastructure across residential, commercial, and industrial sectors.

in my free time

I really enjoy cooking, currently focused on perfecting the art of the French macaron. I also love video games, specifically real time strategy. When my free time is not occupied by cooking or gaming, I enjoy getting my hands on a good autobiography, biography, or fantasy book.
