

mass tort litigation

A powerful solution for clients facing litigation on a large scale

Mass tort litigation involves extraordinary challenges, complexity, and financial risks. Success in this environment requires legal teams and trial lawyers with a depth of experience and mastery of scientific and technical issues; the ability to efficiently and effectively manage large volumes of information and data; and the skills to advocate with credibility, clarity, focus, and resolve. We deliver it all.

Our attorneys have served as national counsel in thousands of mass tort lawsuits, taking a variety of cases to verdict before juries throughout the United States. While asbestos is the largest share of our toxic tort cases, we also defend many toxic tort cases that allege other substances caused injury, including cases that allege paraquat caused the plaintiff's Parkinson's disease, that diesel fumes caused cancer or other lung disease, and a multitude of other claims involving a variety of allegedly toxic substances. Many of our successful defense verdicts were in high-risk jurisdictions, including the City of St. Louis and the Illinois counties of Madison and St. Clair, which have a history of substantial plaintiff verdicts.

Our lead lawyers have substantial first-chair trial experience in toxic tort matters.

We're here for the tough cases and our clients.

We go where our clients need us to be and have defended mass tort cases from coast to coast and outside the continental United States.

Our clients bring critical products to society, often at great financial risk. We honor and defend that.

an industry ally

Our clients include agribusinesses, tobacco companies, chemical manufacturers, food companies, and railroads. We have also served as national counsel to companies in the automotive and other manufacturing industries in almost every state in the nation.

a proven track record

Our accomplishments reflect the depth of our practice and our ability to create legal teams with a proven track record of meeting our clients' needs.

record-breaking results

Our trials have included the largest defense jury verdict in the history of tobacco cost recovery litigation, a zero-damages result in a $280 billion civil RICO case brought by the United States Department of Justice, a complete defense win in the nation's first-ever medical monitoring class action tried to verdict, a complete defense jury verdict in a multi-billion dollar consumer protection class action, trial to successful verdict of a mass consolidation of the personal injury claims of 1,200 individual plaintiffs, and the longest civil jury trial to go to verdict in the history of the United States.
