Diversity & Inclusion Ideas for Companies

New Year. New Ideas for D&I.

A Note From Thompson Coburn

More and more companies are recognizing the significant benefits of having a robust diversity and inclusion program: improved engagement with employees, more openness and transparency among team members, and stronger connections with increasingly diversity-focused clients and community leaders.

But depending on the size, structure or history of your organization, it can be overwhelming to know where to start, or figure out how and when to grow an existing program.

That was the inspiration for this document. Drawing on Thompson Coburn's historic commitment to D&I, our Firm has created a D&I program that in recent years has been singled out for recognition:

- In 2019, Thompson Coburn received the Minority Corporate Counsel Association's (MCCA) 2019 George B. Vashon Innovator Award, a recognition for organizations that have made extraordinary strides to support diverse attorneys.
- In 2020, Norma Jackson, Thompson Coburn's Chief Diversity & Attorney Development Officer, was selected to receive a 2020 Diversity & Inclusion Award from Missouri Lawyers Media.
- For 13 consecutive years, Thompson Coburn has earned a perfect score of 100 points in the Human Rights Campaign's Corporate Equality Index (CEI) and Best Places to Work Survey, which evaluates businesses across the country on their treatment of lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender employees, clients and investors.
- Thompson Coburn is one of just 118 firms in the country that have been certified under the Mansfield Rule 4.0, a national initiative to increase the representation of diverse lawyers in law firm leadership by broadening the pool of candidates considered for roles and opportunities. We have already committed to participate in Mansfield 5.0, and Norma Jackson serves as an advisory board member for Mansfield 2021, which determines the next set of national standards for promoting diversity in law firm hiring, promotions and governance.

We're immensely proud of these recognitions, which are the result of years of dedicated work by our D&I leaders and Firm management. But the real reward of any diversity and inclusion program is the impact it can make within a single organization. Strong D&I programs create opportunities for career advancement. They build connection, raise awareness, spur critical conversations, and create a workplace where people from all backgrounds and experiences feel valued, included, and supported.

This document includes some of the initiatives and activities that have worked for us, and that you can use for inspiration in the creation or expansion of your own D&I programs, no matter where you are in that effort: Beginner/Limited Budget; Established/Moderate Budget; or Advanced/Full Budget. Ideas for Building Impactful Diversity & Inclusion Programs

For Beginner/Limited Budget:

- ❑ Build a diversity committee made of leaders, influencers, allies, and representation from marginalized groups.
- ❑ Identify SMART goals for the development of D&I program initiatives (this document includes several ideas for specific activities/initiatives).
- ❑ Create affinity or employee resource groups to engage diverse team members and allies and solicit their ideas for D&I programming.
- ❑ Develop a system to track diversity metrics, being thoughtful about diversity that extends beyond race and gender; consider ethnicity, nationality, disability, religion, sexual orientation, faith, veteran status, English proficiency, languages spoken, etc.

For Established/Moderate Budget

- ❑ Hire a D&I Coordinator or Manager to steer D&I activities (see our sample job description for this position).
- ❑ Pinpoint gaps in your talent pipeline and create targeted opportunities for internships, training opportunities, scholarships and fellowships for diverse candidates.
- ❑ Connect with diversity nonprofits in your industry and geography and provide funds and support for their initiatives and events.
- ❑ Develop a D&I training curriculum for your employees; provide regular opportunities to learn about inclusion, access, racism, bias, and religious traditions/customs.

For Advanced/Full Budget

- ❑ Submit national diversity and inclusion surveys in an effort to eliminate bias and enhance diversity in your organization or profession.
- ❑ Participate in initiatives to measure and track progress in advancing women, minorities, LGBTQ+, veterans, and attorneys with disabilities.
- ❑ Publish quarterly and annual D&I reports and share them with your entire organization, board, and clients/customers; publish on your organization's website.
- ❑ Identify relevant industry benchmarks for diversity and report your D&I statistics; commit to industry-leading benchmarks and work within your organization to achieve those standards.
- ❑ After achieving your outcomes, submit your organization for D&I awards within your industry or geography; these recognitions give you the opportunity to celebrate your progress and publicize your achievements on your organization's website and social media channels.

Key Activities for D&I Development

For an in-depth look at some key D&I activities, follow the road map below as you navigate the best D&I pathways for your organization.

Stage®

Limited Budget

INITIATIVE

Diversity Awareness Efforts

Benefits

- Use your internal communications channels to share D&I resources and bring awareness to diversity-related holidays, heritage months and other events
- Regular postings about diversity demonstrates an organization's commitment to D&I and creates a "common conversation" on the topic for all team members

How Thompson Coburn did it

- We create and distribute a diversity awareness calendar to all team members with religious holidays, heritage months and other D&I milestone dates
- We developed a "Race, Racism and Allyship Guide" so our entire team has resources to learn about and discuss these topics
- We regularly honor diversity-related events, holidays and happenings on the front page of our Firm's intranet

INITIATIVE Mentorship Programs

Benefits

- Engages both diverse employees and established leaders by connecting them in a formal mentorship program

Challenges

- Attracting influential mentors ready to commit time and energy to the program

Emily Peel, Jesse Doggendorf,
Christina Randolph

Katherine Murchinson and
Judge Booker Shaw

How Thompson Coburn did it

- What started as a mentorship program for female associates was expanded to both male and female associates after achieving success and participation from senior leadership, including the Firm Chair
- Our program is built around the specific goals of associates and counsel and may cross offices and practice areas, depending on the mentee's priorities for the relationship
- Our Diversity Mentorship Program also focuses on sponsorship as distinct from mentorship

Thompson Coburn's Mentorship Programs

- Partner-to-Associate
- Associate-to-Associate (peer mentoring)

Diversity Resources

Benefits

- Makes it easier for your management and employees to talk about D&I by providing regular updates, training opportunities, and reports
- Starts a conversation among your stakeholders and visibly demonstrates your commitment to diversity awareness and cultural competency

Challenges

- Time and budget to compile such resources or hire a D&I consultant to help you develop them

How Thompson Coburn did it

We provide our stakeholders with resources that they can regularly access:

- Diversity awareness calendar
- Disability awareness guide
- Ramadan guide
- Quarterly D&I educational offerings
- Quarterly mental health workshops
- Quarterly D&I newsletter
- Annual D&I report
- D&I book club

Pipeline
Programs

Benefits

- Provides direct opportunities and access for diverse candidates/ students to gain exposure to your industry and organization
- Fills gaps in the talent pipeline
- Can extend from established job-seekers to college and post-secondary students
- Work with local colleges and universities, as well as K-12 institutions, to provide opportunities to introduce students from marginalized groups to your industry

Challenges

- Such programs and scholarships do require time and resources

How Thompson Coburn did it

- We established the Thomas F. Eagleton Scholarship for diverse law school students, which includes a scholarship, a paid summer internship with the Firm and mentorship from Thompson Coburn partners
- We participate in various initiatives with local high schools, colleges and universities to expand awareness and access to potential careers in the legal profession

INITIATIVE Industry Benchmarks for Hiring and Advancement

Benefits

- Helps your organization evaluate your D&I performance in comparison with others in your industry
- Creates concrete goals/standards for diversity hiring & advancement

Challenges

- Prompts your organization to confront shortcomings
- May require considerable time and resources to improve performance

How Thompson Coburn did it

- In 2018, Thompson Coburn got involved with the Mansfield Rule, a national initiative to increase the representation of diverse lawyers in law firm leadership by broadening the pool of candidates considered for roles and opportunities
- We created and executed a very deliberate plan to move women attorneys into practice, office, and firmwide leadership
- Thompson Coburn was one of just 118 law firms in the country that have been certified under the Mansfield Rule 4.0, meaning that in addition to meeting or exceeding the baseline requirements, we successfully reached at least 30 percent diverse lawyer representation in a notable number of current leadership roles
- Thompson Coburn is committed to participate in Mansfield 5.0
